GERMANS ARE KEPT ON RUN TOWARD PISA

FRENCH TAKE 1900 PRISONERS ON ELBA ISLE

BY LYNN HEINERLING
Rome, June 20 (AP)—French Colonial troops stacked arms on the conquered island of Elba and stood guard over some 1,900 German prisoners, while Allied armies on the Italian mainland sloged forward through the mud of a 30-hour downpour and kept the Nazis on the run toward the Pisa-Florence-Rimini defense line in northern Italy.

The ancient communications center of Perugia, 85 miles north of Rome, shook with the sound of battle as Eighth Army troops expelled the last stubborn German rearguards from its streets and buildings. For several days the enemy had braced and made a bitter stand on the approaches to the city, whose peacetime population was 88,500.

White Flag Hoisted
German forces in the center of the peninsula were believed under order to contest every foot of ground at this point so that the shattered Nazi 14th army near the west coast might withdraw in as much order as possible before the Americans and French of Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark's Fifth army, Perugia is only 72 airline miles from Florence.

The French crushed the last enemy resistance on Elba yesterday when the 300-man garrison of Porto Longone on the eastern shore of the historic island hoisted a white flag and surrendered. German casualties in killed and wounded were estimated at 500. Historical and cultural landmarks on the island, once the exile home of Napoleon, suffered no important damage in the three-day battle.

Rain Handicaps Advance
Not counting the bag of prisoners on Elba, it was announced that Allied forces in Italy had captured 27,000 prisoners since they opened their drive toward Rome on May 11. American troops pushing beyond Grosseto near the west coast continued to take a heavy toll of the withdrawing enemy, one infantry unit capturing 15 German artillery pieces yesterday. Another Yank unit took 1,198 prisoners—719 of whom were non-German—in a five-day period.

Perugia, a provincial capital, proved the most troublesome obstacle yet encountered by Allied forces north of Rome. In the past two days extensive enemy demolitions and the pouring rain slowed the Eighth army's tanks and self-propelled artillery almost to a standstill, and it was not until Indian troops pushed east and north of Perugia yesterday, threatening to encircle the Nazi garrison, that British units were able to fight into its streets from the south.

CHERBOURG—Goal of Allied Drive—Map above shows the great port of Cherbourg at the end of the Normandy peninsula. Possession of it by the Allies means access to docking facilities that, in peacetime, accommodated the largest luxury liners, such as the Normandie, and, in wartime, can accommodate the largest warships and transports.

Napoleon was the first to develop Cherbourg as a great naval station, spending millions of dollars on extensive fortifications and improvements. The military area has three main ship basins, carved out of solid rock, shipyards, drydocks, arsenals, supply warehouses and other equipment. (NEA Photo.)

Naziland Targets Hit By 2,000 U. S. Bombers; Rocket Ramps Jolted

BY AUSTIN BEALMEAR
London, June 20 (AP)—In the greatest heavy bomber assault in history, United States air forces hurled more than 2,000 Fortresses and Liberators against Hitler's Europe today to smash once at 12 German oil plants and twice at the rocket-launching coast of France which also was attacked throughout the day by other Allied planes.

More than 1,500 heavy bombers—at least equal to the largest force ever sent on a single mission—thundered to the continent, smacking the pilotless-plane launching platforms in Pas de Calais and continuing across Germany almost to Poland in the first operation of the heaviest daylong assault ever made.

PLATFORM TASK BEGINS FOR GOP

No Deadlock Expected On Presidential Balloting

BY D. HAROLD OLIVER
Chicago, June 20 (AP)—Republican platform makers moved on to the pre-convention scene today and, in the midst of fierce contention over the presidential nomination, began sentiment-sounding on planks dealing with a post-war-international peace organization and elimination of all "unnecessary regulation" of individuals and business.

Also, at a news conference, GOP National Chairman Harrison E. Spangler:

1. Predicted that the convention would encounter no balloting deadlock and would produce a presidential nominee on the third day—June 28—and a vice-presidential choice June 29.
2. Denied knowledge of any "discrimination" in the treatment accorded Wendell L. Willkie, the 1940 nominee, and presidential standard-bearers of other years in invitations for convention participation. Willkie has been sent a ticket for a seat on the speakers' platform as guest, but has not been asked to address the gathering.

Whistling Youths Put Under Martial Law At Boys State

East Lansing, June 20 (AP)—Martial law was proclaimed in Wolverine Boys State today to prevent the youthful citizens from whistling at co-eds on their way to register for summer school classes at the Field House, which also is Boys' State headquarters.

Gov. Charles Moad, of Milan, ordered State Police to enforce the rule. He defined whistling as any "remark, noise or action" directed at any college woman.

He took time off from his political duties this afternoon to pay an official inspection visit to the state control center of the Michigan office of civilian defense.

WHISKY MAKING TO BE RESUMED

Domestic Distillers Get Month Of August For Easing Shortage

Washington, June 20 (AP)—One month of whisky making, on a basis that could provide more than one-fourth of a normal year's output, was authorized for domestic distillers today by the war production board.

The liquor will be made during August and spokesmen for the trade said the holiday from industrial alcohol production should ease the greatest liquor drought since prohibition. It was pointed out that liquor firms may bring more aged whisky out of storage, replacing it with the new product, and that some of the new liquor itself may go quickly on to retail store shelves in blended beverages.

Easing of the industrial alcohol situation was given as the reason for the temporary return to beverage making, which had been agitated by the trade and by some segments of congress.

Donald Nelson, chairman of WPB, said between 20 and 25 million gallons of 190 proof alcohol can be allowed for beverage use. That is about one-fourth the amount used for whisky in normal years. It would come out in beverage form as 40 to 50 million gallons of whisky running from 86 to 90 proof, less leakage and processing losses. WPB figures a normal year's output at 150,000,000 gallons.

Loan Firm Official Is Key Witness In Lansing Bribe Trial

BY G. MILTON KELLY
Mason, Mich., June 20 (AP)—Wayne E. Otis, Lansing finance and small loan company official which the prosecution once had described as "hostile to it, today became one of its key witnesses in the legislative graft conspiracy trial, in progress here before a circuit court jury.

Otis, whom Special Prosecutor Kim Sigler cross-examined as "hostile" in previous circuit court examination of the 22 defendants, occupied the witness stand most of today, and was on amicable terms with the prosecutor, save for a flurry when they disagreed upon the definition of what constitutes a "sundbag" bill in legislative circles.

Otis testified all of five finance company officials who are among the defendants attended meetings at which strategy to influence legislation was planned, and money was raised for lobbying, but insisted that never in his presence had anyone mentioned either "corruption of the legislature or paying bribes to legislators or anyone else."

New Allied Landing At River Po Feared

ENEMY STUNG TO ACTION IN WEST PACIFIC

GREAT SEA CLASH MAY ALREADY BE UNDER WAY

BY LEIF ERICKSON
U. S. Pacific Fleet Headquarters, Pearl Harbor, June 20 (AP)—A Japanese naval armada—"possibly the entire Japanese fleet"—has moved out between the Philippines and the invaded Marianas, Adm. Chester W. Nimitz announced tonight, hinting dramatically that a history-making battle with the American Fifth fleet already may be under way.

Already it is possible that damage has been inflicted on the Japanese warships, the admiral said. American forces invaded the Marianas, 1,500 miles from Tokyo, along Japan's inner defense line of islands, "on the assumption the Japanese would bring out everything they possibly could," he added.

"We put enough muscle in the Fifth fleet to take care of everything he (the Jap) could muster."

Warm Welcome Waiting
Nimitz said there was a possibility that a major naval engagement might result.

(Earlier Tokyo radio told the Japanese people that a huge naval battle was taking shape and promised them a decisive victory.)

"I can't control Japanese fleet movements," Nimitz said.

Although he did not specify what the situation was, as of Monday, he added the significant hint that possible damage already may have been inflicted on enemy surface units.

With their reconnaissance advantage, the Japanese decided Sunday they had enough information to launch carrier-based plane strikes on the fleet, the admiral noted.

"They have made a very strong bid but took a very severe beating in losing 300 carrier type planes," he said.

Such carrier planes are most valuable to the Japs because of the long pilot training required

Ramps For Rockets Well Hidden, Says Bomber Crewman

A U. S. Bomber Base in England, June 20 (AP)—The Germans' concealment of the mysterious rocket plane launching sites is "the sweetest job in the world," a veteran crewman of a Liberator said today upon returning from a raid against the bomb coast.

Sgt. Bill McCarty of Ford City, Pa., peace-time columnist for the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, who has gone on half a dozen missions against the French coastal area, said:

"The Germans have taken great pains to hide the launching points from our bombardiers. They are well concealed and hard to see. They blend cleverly with the natural background of the trees and fields."

"A wide belt of these installations extends along the coast from about 15 to 40 miles inland."

Viipuri Captured By Reds; Finns On Verge Of Defeat

BY RUSSELL LANDSTROM
London, June 20 (AP)—Premier Stalin announced tonight that the Red army captured Finland's second largest city and southern gateway, Viipuri, today as the smashing climax to an 11-day offensive in which the Soviet forces have driven 60 miles and appear to have plunged the Finns to the verge of defeat.

Stalin announced the fall of the important seaport in a midnight order of the day, praising the units of the Leningrad army of Marshal Leonid A. Govorov, and within a few minutes after the announcement the Moscow radio declared, "Viipuri's fall brings Finland to the brink of defeat."

The commander-in-chief said the Red troops had crashed through the Mannerheim line and, "developing their offensive, overpowered the outer and inner defenses of Viipuri, and today, June 20, carried by assault the fortress and town of Viipuri."

Later the regular nightly Moscow communique announced that during the course of the day's drive the Russians captured more than 60 other populated places, including seven railway stations.

The London Press expressed the opinion that with Viipuri's fall the battered Finns would not be able to make an effective stand anywhere.

Though Stockholm still hummed with talk of imminent shifts in the Finnish government and London listened to it hopefully, Moscow said it knew of no Finnish peace overtures. Both Russian and British press dispatches asserted the Finns could not expect to receive as generous armistice terms as they refused two months before Marshal Joseph Stalin signaled the present offensive.

The plight of the Finnish army worsened hourly. Having evacuated scores of towns and villages on the Isthmus and then having been newly smashed among hurriedly-built defenses between many small lakes, the defenders appeared close to chaos. Moscow dispatches said many Finns had been trapped in a succession of pockets, with few getting away.

An armored Finnish staff train was among the extensive booty falling to the Russians.

Soviet warships were reported to have sunk four Finnish transports and numerous other craft in the Gulf of Finland and to have blocked the escape by water of Finnish troops in Viipuri.

Advanced Allied Headquarters, New Guinea, Wednesday, June 21 (AP)—Borokoe and Sorido dromes on Biak Island have been captured, completing the conquest of the airstrips in the Schouten Islands once held by the Japanese.

The two strips were taken Tuesday, headquarters announced today. There was minor enemy resistance west of Sorido.

Biak Island's other major drome, Mokmer, was captured earlier this month. These fields place the Fifth air force within 880 miles of the Philippines.

A fourth drome has been built by the Americans on Owl Island, five miles from Biak.

Jap losses on Biak were described as heavy. Sorido village, three-quarters of a mile northwest of Sorido drome, also was captured.

Truck stalls in the Carolines again took a heavy pounding, headquarters announced. Liberators dropped 39 tons of bombs there. For the first time in many raids, no enemy interception or anti-aircraft fire was encountered.

Employment Drops In War Industries
Washington, June 20 (AP)—Employment in war manufacturing industries has dropped an average of 100,000 workers a month this year, the commerce department reported today.

Jobs in non-war industries have declined almost 50,000 a month, the report said, adding:

"Manpower shortages in some individual plants persist, but the general trend is downward."

The department predicted this trend would continue in war industries, but the employment in non-war jobs would remain about the same during the second half of this year.

Many U. S. Fliers Safe In Sweden
Stockholm, June 20 (AP)—Battered by German fighters and anti-aircraft fire over the Baltic, 21 United States heavy bombers crashed or made forced landings in Sweden today in the greatest such influx to this neutral country in a single day.

About 185 crewmen, including several wounded men, survived.

TRAPPED GERMANS MUST QUIT OR FACE DEATH

BY JAMES M. LONG
Supreme Headquarters, Allied Expeditionary Force, Wednesday, June 21 (AP)—American troops stormed to the top of the last ridge barrier to Cherbourg last night, and were within sight of the great port less than four miles away where the explosions of hasty German demolition threw a smoke shroud over the city and thundered the collapse of any Nazi hopes of a successful siege stand.

(A NBC broadcast from London said that American troops were within two miles of Cherbourg's city limits and that the fall of the port "seems imminent.")

The correspondent said Allied warships were pounding the Germans around Cherbourg and also in the Cap de la Hague area at the northwest tip of the peninsula 15 miles above Cherbourg.

No Other Choice
An Allied spokesman called upon the tens of thousands of trapped Germans to surrender. There was no other choice, he said—except death.

American long-range artillery laid a powerful drum fire on the Germans around the city, and also hurled shells into the roads leading northeastward to Cap Levy and northwestward to Cap de la Hague at the tip of the peninsula.

Headquarters communique No. 20, issued just before midnight, said Allied troops now were "attacking the outer defenses of Cherbourg," and were engaged in heavy fighting on three sides of Valognes, 10 miles southeast of the prize port.

Field dispatches already had reported American capture of Valognes, ruined Montebourg, four miles to the rear, and St. Martin Le-Greard, four miles south of Cherbourg, and late reports told of the attainment of the top of the last hill outside the city.

Of the eastern end of the front the Allied communique said: "Our positions in the area of Tilly are firm. Very heavy fighting continued near Hotot."

Weather Improves
After mid-day yesterday the bad weather which had limited air operations lifted somewhat and fighter-bombers and bombers pounded the German flying-bomb bases in the Pas-de-Calais area, the bulletin said. German communications also were attacked over a wide area behind the Normandy front.

Spearheaded by the veteran U. S. Ninth division and led by French patriot scouts for the final assault, thousands of American troops including fresh units bayoneted their way up the green hills just outside the city.

Cornered German troops, estimated from 25,000 to 50,000, were taking a terrific mauling from a massive infantry, artillery and aerial onslaught as a German-speaking British officer stepped to a BBC microphone and asked them to surrender.

"Little more than a year ago," he reminded them, "other German soldiers commanded by General Von Arnim were driven into the sea by this same Ninth Infantry division. The soldiers of Arnim's army (on Cap Bon in Tunisia) who then realized that it is not dishonorable to surrender when one is defeated and can no longer escape, gave up the fight and they have not regretted their decision."

Amrunt Accumulates

Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery, Allied ground commander, was using his troops on that end of the front, including his famous "desert rat" units which whipped Rommel in North Africa, in a holding operation while the Americans closed in on Cherbourg for the kill. Montgomery also went ahead steadily building up weapons with which to launch a major offensive. Beachhead positions were declared crammed with armament.

The Ninth division, led by Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley who directed the victory at Bizerte, rolled through Raville la Bisot, Breuille and St. Martin in a swift advance from captured Briquerebec, and seized hilltop positions overlooking the valley of the Divette river which cuts through the last ridge outside of Cherbourg. Moving across hedgerows and green fields past rose-covered peasant cottages the veteran troops cut the Germans into little groups, and dispatches said many high Nazi officers had been slain to contribute to the enemy's rapid disorganization.

French Patriots Help

In small groups French patriots drifted into the American lines, begging to assist in Cherbourg's capture, said a field dispatch from Associated Press Correspondent Don Whitehead.

"They know the country well and we see no reason why they couldn't help," an officer said. "They are in a weird assortment of uniforms, but they know how to fight."

Some of these Frenchmen, veterans of the first World War, immediately began directing American troops over hill trails.

Hundreds of the enemy are wandering around behind American lines waiting for their captors to pick them up, field reports said. More than 1,000 prisoners have been taken in the past two days.

Weather conditions still were bad. A 60-mile-an-hour wind kicked up five-foot waves on the Allied beachheads, yet the flow of men and material continued. It was disclosed that not a single large ship of the whole armada which made the first day crossings June 6 was lost.

Nipponese Chased From East India In Great Thrust

Southeast Asia Headquarters, Kandy, Ceylon, June 20 (AP)—British imperials in a swift 17-mile advance have driven the Japanese from Mao Songsang on the Kohima-Imphal road of eastern India in the greatest thrust since the start of the Allied counter-offensive, a communique announced today.

The advance south from Kohima brushed the enemy from Tumpha and planted the Allied vanguard just west of Maram, clearing all but 29 miles of the more than 60 miles of road between these two Allied bases.

A large ordnance dump and ten artillery pieces were taken. It was estimated officially that 3,500 Japanese were killed in this sector and 50 prisoners taken.

Belgium is the most densely populated country in Europe, with a population of 710 to the square mile.

Friendly Boundary Seen For Future Between China And Russia

BY SPENCER MOOSA

Chungking, June 20 (AP)—Vice President Henry A. Wallace, arriving here today to confer with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, predicted that the common boundary between Russia and China would in the future be like the border between the United States and Canada.

The American vice president's remark received wide attention in Chungking, where the general supposition was that he would not have voiced such a view unless he had had good reason to believe that China's territorial integrity, particularly in Manchuria, would be scrupulously respected after the war. Wallace arrived here by way of Russia.

This is a subject on which the Chinese long have held privately expressed misgivings.

Wallace, in a statement distributed at the airport upon his arrival, quoted Dr. Hu Shih, former Chinese ambassador to the United States, as having said that the boundary between China and Siberia "should be like the frontier between United States and Canada—not one of separation but one of joining friends together."

"I believe it will be so," Wallace commented.

"We've Been Lucky"

Concerning the strength of the American fleet off the Marianas, Nimitz remarked:

"I can safely say that there was enough power to be favorable to us in a decisive engagement."

"We hope the Jap fleet will stay in that area. As long as they stay, we have a chance to get at them."

"I think we've been very lucky," Nimitz said.

Once the Marianas, including the former U. S. outpost of Guam, have been secured, the Americans will be able to maintain effective aerial search over and exert great strength in "the last great vacant area in the western Pacific."

He remarked that this sea space between the Marianas, the Philippines and Formosa, "was large enough to be worth a special name."

SAIPAN HALF CONQUERED

Washington, June 20 (AP)—Inching forward against heavy enemy artillery fire, American troops have taken the southern half of Saipan, largest island in the western Pacific Marianas group.

Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, Pacific fleet commander, announced tonight that forward lines now extend from the shore of Marfienne Bay on the southeast side of the island to the outskirts of Garapan, principal town on Saipan.

Army and Marine units, Nimitz said, have moved up artillery to blast away at the enemy's big guns. American bombers and strafing fighter planes are joining in the assault, while offshore warships are pouring shells onto enemy positions.

DASH VICTORY IS QUESTIONED

False Starts May Make Young's Win In 100 Illegal

BY HAROLD CLAASSEN

New York, June 20 (AP)—Claude (Buddy) Young's triumph in the 100-meter dash at the National AAU championship may be declared illegal because of the five false starts and the two gun-rebells that preceded the Illinois freshman's victory.

Dan Ferris, secretary-treasurer of the AAU, told reporters today that "I expect Young's victory will be questioned at the annual meeting this winter."

Similar action was taken following the 1912 Olympic games at Stockholm when it developed that Jim Thorpe, Indian star of the United States' team, was a professional.

All six finalists in the 100-meter championship event were disqualified Sunday by Starter Jack Lavelle after making two false starts each, the maximum allowed under the present rules.

Lawrence Di Benedetto of New Orleans president of the AAU and referee of the meet, reinstated all six, however, and Young triumphed easily.

After the reinstatement the sextet enjoyed another false start before breaking as one.

First-Place Margin Stretched; Browns Split With Chicago

St. Louis, June 20 (AP)—The league-leading St. Louis Browns stretched their narrow first-place margin to a full game tonight by splitting a twilight-night double-header with the third place Chicago White Sox. Chicago won the opener 4 to 3 in 10 innings and the Browns won the night contest 5 to 0.

The second place Boston Red Sox muffed a chance at first place by dropping a doubleheader to Philadelphia.

The Browns sent the first game into extra innings when Mike Kreevich singled and George McQuinn doubled him home after two were out in the ninth. A two-base blow by Ralph Hodgins scored Thurman Tucker for the Pale Hose and broke up the game in the tenth.

Al Hollingsworth posted his first victory of the season in the nightcap. The Browns pushed one run over in the first inning, then scored three more in the sixth off Orval Grove and one in the seventh off Joe Haynes to clinch the game.

Do you feel tired—listless? ☐

Now everyone knows that to get the good out of the food you eat—you must digest it properly. But what most people don't know is that Nature must produce about two pints of the digestive juice—liver bile—each day to help digest your food. If Nature fails, your food may remain undigested, the sour and heavy within you. Thus, it is simple to see that one way to aid digestion is to increase the flow of liver bile. Now, Carter's Little Liver Pills start to increase this flow quickly for thousands—often in as little as thirty minutes. When bile flow increases, your digestion may improve. And, soon you're on the road to feeling better—which is what you're after.

Don't depend on artificial aids to counteract indigestion—when Carter's, taken as directed, aid digestion after Nature's own order. Get Carter's Little Liver Pills today—only 25¢. You'll be glad you did.

Have a "Coke" = It's gey braw
(SWELL OCCASION)

...or celebrating a Scotch ship-launching

Gey braw are the Scotch words for it at Clydebank when a new carrier goes down the ways. Your American celebrates it with his familiar invitation, Have a "Coke". It's a phrase of friendship that is heard wherever American is spoken,—a cordial gesture that brings people together. In many lands around the globe, Coca-Cola is spreading the custom of the pause that refreshes,—has become a symbol of refreshing good will, just as it is when you serve it at home.

We Must Speak

AS ALLIED arms continue to sweep ever forward in France and Italy and Fascism is being backed steadily toward the wall of demoralizing defeat and as General MacArthur's forces in the south Pacific press ever closer to the Philippines and the Japanese mainland, sound thinking people of this nation are appreciating that reconversion of American industry to peace time production, is not as far in the future as some leaders have led us to believe. And those who are thus looking into this not too distant future, have encountered a dilemma that seems impossible of solution under present conditions.

The underlying cause of what seems an insurmountable obstacle, under present leadership, is this nation's taxing system. When war plants cease to be needed for war production, we will have the buildings and the man power to begin peacetime production, but no private or corporate funds to finance that fundamental need. Under existing tax laws neither corporations nor individuals are permitted to lay by reserves, to finance reconversion and provide employment for men who will then be idle.

The desperate war need of the moment, to finance our own war effort and that of our allies, is so great that neither thought nor provision is being made to meet an even more serious internal need, that may be "just around the corner."

And maybe it is being "planned this way." It is a typically New Dealish theory that government should control private business. In fact there is a bill before congress today, attached to a commendable veterans' aid measure, that would permit the federal government to name a citizen in every county of every state in the United States, who would serve as lending agent for the federal treasury to provide government funds to finance the reconversion of private enterprise. But every real American knows that when any government lends money to a private agency, governmental agents control that business or agency. Such a plan would wipe out free enterprise more completely than any New Deal proposal of the past.

It must not happen in America. A taxing system must be devised that will permit private industry to remain private industry. The war need of the moment is great, but the need of American business and the necessity for preserving the American way of life in America, tomorrow, next month or next year, is even greater. The people of America must speak at the November elections.

Local Gallup Poll

PERSONS who attend the meeting of the Citizens Forum this evening will be asked to express their choice of the public works projects that should be undertaken in Escanaba after the war.

The Gallup Poll idea is to be given a tryout on a small scale, and there is the possibility that the plan will be expanded like has been done in other cities to determine what the citizens expect from their municipal governments.

The ballot, which will be handed out at the forum meeting, will list principal projects proposed by the city administration. These include: sidewalks, streets and alley paving, bathing beach and beach house, city and county service center, recreation center, completion of Ludington park, Ludington street boulevard, extension of steam mains, and other projects. The citizens also will be asked to express a choice of the location of the proposed civic center.

Each project will be described in detail by City Manager George Bean at the forum meeting. It promises to be one of the most important sessions of the organization since its inception.

Bond Sale Lags

SALES of bonds in the Fifth War Loan campaign are not coming up to expectations throughout the country, all of which poses a question that is difficult to answer.

Those who are in charge of the war loan drive were confident at the start that the effort would be a pushover. The invasion of Western Europe, with all its accompanying newspaper headlines and radio broadcasts, came at the appropriate time to arouse patriotism to its greatest heights, they thought.

But such was not the case. Apparently, many people think the war is all over, now that the Allies have established a beachhead in Normandy. There it is still much fighting to do in Europe and the Pacific. Production of guns, tanks, planes, ships and other equipment for this war has been times greater than in the first World War, and all these war expenditures must be financed.

The boys overseas have not quit fighting. The folks back home must certainly should not quit buying bonds.

French Capture Elba

CAPTURE of the small island of Elba was announced with considerable fanfare, not so much because of its military importance but rather because the event had much historical significance.

The Italian island in the Mediterranean, six miles west of the mainland, is historically famous as the enforced residence of Napoleon Bonaparte after his first abdication in 1814. There he remained until 1815, when he escaped. Then there followed the famous "Hundred Days" in European history, March 20 to June 28, from the date of his entry into Paris to the second abdication.

The capture of Elba is a reminder of the fact that Napoleon, like Adolf Hitler, almost conquered all of Europe, and, incidentally, his downfall began when he fell victim to the severe Russian winter. Hitler made the same mistake that Napoleon made, apparently having learned nothing from the history of past wars of aggression.

Conquest of Elba this week was a victory for French colonial troops. The event is significant because it reveals that a France, beaten prostrate by Hitler's army and betrayed by the Vichy collaborators, is rising again to redeem herself.

Atlantic Wall

WE ARE just beginning to get some inkling as to how far from easy were the initial landings on the Normandy coast. For the first few days everybody wondered why the Germans didn't try harder to stop us. Now we have the answer—they did. They just weren't good enough to halt the juggernaut we sent across the channel, though many thousands of American homes will learn eventually how much damage they accomplished.

Perhaps the enormity of our venture and the difficulty with which we are learning now—it has succeeded thus far will placate those hotheads who were all bothered because we didn't row or swim across the channel a year ago without the long preparation that now has made success possible.

Other Editorial Comments

BUY AND HOLD (Cleveland Plain Dealer)

A great deal has been said and written of the vast wartime savings of the American people. If the business statisticians are right these savings are represented by money in circulation and money in bank, both of which have expanded markedly in the last two years.

Here, it would seem, are the major sources from which War Bond subscriptions properly should be drawn. If it is true that billions of deposits and currency in circulation represent idle funds, then certainly they should be put to work for Uncle Sam in War Bonds.

It would hardly be too much to say that those who have such idle funds and refuse to make them available for the sound financing of the war are slackers and are failing to support as they should those who are carrying the brunt of battle in Normandy, in Italy and in the south Pacific.

We should like to add that the individual who buys War Bonds expecting soon to convert them into cash or savings notes with which to meet his tax liability is making no real contribution to the success of the campaign.

What genuine success of the Fifth War Loan Drive requires is a long-term investment in the future of the United States. Quite possibly it is upon the number and magnitude of such investments that the peace and security of the nation, in the final reckoning, will depend.

Buy War Bonds.
Buy as many as you can.
Hold all you buy.

After the brand of government the French have had for the past few years, anything will be an improvement.

World War In The Air

BY MAJOR A. P. de SEVERSKY

Henry A. Wallace, Vice President of the United States, is one of our national leaders who is keenly aware of how modern aviation is reshaping political, economic and military relationships in the world. He gives new proof of this in an essay on "Our Job in the Pacific."

Just published as a pamphlet by the Institute of Pacific Relations.

Throughout this work, the Vice President reveals his sense of the extent to which the airplane is changing things for the nations and peoples fringing the Pacific Ocean. I am not passing judgment on his deductions, but the fact itself that he does not, like so many others, ignore the far-reaching effects of the aviation age, is noteworthy.

"The rise of aviation," he writes at one point, "will create new problems both economic and strategic and may possibly become a serious new source of international friction; but on the other hand it may also serve as one of the integrating factors between economic regions and political groupings."

—THE SHRINKING PACIFIC—
He points out that "Polar air routes and Arctic economic development may make the North Pacific a great post-war communications highway between America, Russia and the Far East." Under a map of the ocean area in the Vice President's pamphlet there is a caption which sums up the essence of the aviation age. It reads:

"The Shrinking Pacific — Steamships measured Pacific distances in weeks. Airplanes measure them in hours, drawing the Americas, Asia and Australasia ever closer together."

In touching on the strategic picture in the Pacific, however, Mr. Wallace shows that he has not revised the orthodox concepts in line with the new aviation realities. It is clear that he still follows assumptions carried over from the epoch when sea power fixed the military pattern.

While recognizing that distances must be measured "in hours," he fails to apply the logic of that fact to his vision of the strategic map of the future.

Like so many statesmen and political leaders, Mr. Wallace is unable to perceive the essentials of aeronautical science. I believe we have entered a period in history when great vision and insight in the political sphere will not be enough—these must be backed by technological vision and insight to have any reality.

The Vice President foresees a victory in the Pacific in this war "which will leave American and United Nations forces in occupation of innumerable islands strewn across the Western Pacific like a Milky Way." These he believes "will secure us against any Pearl Harbor surprise attack in the future."

If he is thinking of them as possible observation points (similar to the radio-equipped sloops which the Japs strew across the Pacific), he may be right. But if he is thinking of these scattered islands as air bases of strategic value, he is on the wrong track. Since they cannot contain enough air power to match what an enemy can bring against them from a primary base, they are doomed to be snuffed out as soon as the enemy considers it worth the investment and the effort.

Such small islands automatically belong to the one who dominates the surrounding ocean, and that in turn belongs to the one who controls the skies above the ocean. Control of the skies, the telltale element, will not be determined by possession of pinpoint islands or aircraft carriers. It will be determined by land-based air power, operating from the home land; that is, from the source of a nation's industrial might.

—CONTROL PACIFIC WATERS—
Because the range of aircraft is limited as yet—through no fault of aeronautical engineering — and because we have built a mighty naval air arm, we now control the waters of the Pacific. The small islands are falling to our side one after the other. They can contain so little aviation that we smother them readily with shipborne aircraft. Once the development of planes reaches the point where they can strike through the entire length and breadth of the ocean from primary bases in the home land, such intermediary stations will be useless to both sides.

Under the caption "Our Strategic Needs," Vice President Wallace writes: "It is probably safe to assume that the thought uppermost in the minds of our Navy after the war will concern the importance of securing naval and air bases which will insure our strategic control of the Pacific. Such bases will in all likelihood be situated on small islands like the Japanese mandates."

There we have a perfect example of routine acceptance of old ideas for the new period. Mr. Wallace has forgotten that powerful naval bases like Hong Kong, Corregidor and Singapore were helpless against an enemy who had superiority in the skies. How, therefore, will a naval station on some small mandate island survive when it is within a few hours' flight of the entire enemy aviation planted on a great land mass? When the enemy, moreover, will be able to deposit scores of thousands of tons of bombs, or do in one flight what it takes the British and American air forces combined to do today to Germany in one month?

The base can survive only if shielded by superior friendly air power. But air power of such magnitude can only be husbanded on the mainland. To count on the tiny Pacific islands as a network of security is to deal in memories, not facts.

caused his ships to "put in" at a certain nameless bay so that the wounded might be cared for and the damaged ships repaired.

—THE SHRINKING PACIFIC—
He points out that "Polar air routes and Arctic economic development may make the North Pacific a great post-war communications highway between America, Russia and the Far East." Good Morning!

By The Bugler

LOOK AT A KING—American fighting men in high jinks spirit sit on thrones in Italy once occupied by the royal seats of decadent monarchs. They have their pictures taken and the pictures are published back home, causing alarmists to wonder how King Victor Emanuel will feel about it all.

Well, King Victor Emanuel has turned over what glory he has left to his son and the fighting Yanks slip down off the throne to chase Benito Mussolini's one-time pals out of the king's country. So history goes in these modern days. The little kings of all the little monarchies are doing their best to hang on to what's left, while the armed forces of the democracies fight to liberate the weak kings' peoples.

Nowadays the so-called common people are looking at kings with the same indifference and the same attitude as expressed by John Haywood in 1914, who said, "Even a cat may look upon a king."

PFC John E. Erickson of Escanaba, former Daily Press employee, writing from North Africa after a recent visit to Italy, describes his impression of the pint-sized Italian king.

"Especially are we interested in the recent giving up of the throne by the King of Italy on the Allies taking Rome, since we saw him in his car several times while in Naples. There was no pomp and glory about him and he seemed to be a tired business man with a contract he was sure to lose."

ITS POLITICS—While Congressmen are looking at the home front with foreboding and talking darkly of "dictatorship" and "curbing our freedom," they have in adopting the emasculated soldiers' vote act placed a halter on the mind of the American man and woman in the armed forces.

For the soldiers' vote act provides that any books of general circulation purchased in whole or in part by government funds shall not contain "Political argument or political propaganda of any kind designed or calculated to affect the result of any election" for federal office.

As a result of this provision, as interpreted by the adjutant general's office, the following books have been barred for purchase by the armed services. It is disclosed by the Council on Books in Wartime.

"Yankee from Olympus," a biography of Chief Justice Holmes, which is a Book-of-the-Month Club selection and a leading best-seller; "The Republic," of which ten installments appeared in Life Magazine; "Slogum House," a novel; and "One Man's Meat," a book of essays.

The inconsistency of the whole thing is that the gag rule applies only to books and not to magazines or newspapers. Thus the soldiers could read ten chapters of the life of Chief Justice Holmes in Life magazine but they were not supplied with the book itself.

The danger in this is obvious. If our men overseas are to be permitted to vote for federal offices they should have free access to information. To ban certain books (some best sellers at home) from their reading list is a manifestation of intolerance and an undemocratic procedure. It is arbitrary and smacks of the tactics employed by totalitarian governments.

Apparently congress believes that, while it grudgingly permits fighting men to vote, it should control their thinking so they will vote the "right way"—whatever that is. Next step could be efforts to control the thought of home front civilians. Altogether there is grave danger of jeopardizing American freedom of the press.

Lt. W. J. Hatton, who has been spending a furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Hatton, left yesterday to report for duty at San Francisco, California.

Norman Stephenson has purchased the farmers market store at 200 Ludington street. Mr. Stephenson is a son of C. C. Stephenson, and has spent most of his life in Escanaba.

The Roman Catholic College of Cardinals, when complete, is made up of 70 members of whom six are cardinal-bishops, 50 cardinal-priests and 14 cardinal-deacons.

ONLY ONE—One of the oddities revealed by the Escanaba street tree census is a solitary ginkgo tree planted on the tree strip on Eighth avenue south by Emil Neumann of 830 South 15th street. It is reported by City Forester Bob Clayton. The tree is only one inch in diameter and is about five feet high.

Neumann obtained the tree from a friend in the city and replanted it two years ago in its present location. It is not thriving very well because it is more adapted to a warmer climate than we have here, says the city forester.

Most curious feature of the tree is its leaf. There is nothing like it in the foliage of native trees in America or Europe. The foliage is fan-shaped, resembling the leaf of the maiden-hair fern. Hence one of the common names of the ginkgo is maiden-hair tree.

The ginkgo is classified in the same primitive group plants as our native evergreen trees. However, it does lose its leaves each fall. It is the only known living representative of a whole botanical order of plants.

Clayton says it is believed the ginkgo survived through the ages because, as a native of China and Japan, it was cared for and cultivated in temple gardens. It was first introduced into England and came to this country from there.

Because the ginkgo is a fast-growing, well shaped tree it is highly regarded in some sections of the country for street planting. The city of Washington, D. C., has put out a large number of ginkgo trees along a street lined with these trees leading to the Department of Agriculture grounds. If it wasn't for Escanaba's chilly climate, ginkgo trees might be used more widely here.

NEW YORK—Radio: Tallulah Bankhead and John Haysprad were rehearsing at Tallulah's apartment for their radio appearance in Noel Coward's "Private Lives." In the scene in which the leading lady breaks some dishes, Tallulah became realistic and broke a dish. "Oh," she gasped, "and it was a family heirloom." "But it was from the 5 and 10 cent store," Tallulah's maid reminded her. "Yes," replied Tallulah, "but didn't you know Mr. Woolworth was my uncle?"

BUSINESS DEPT.: Undersecretary of State Ed Stettinius has been most circumspect in avoiding any personal situation which possibly could be interpreted as influencing his work. Before accepting the post, Stettinius sold all his securities, except government bonds. Because Juan Trippe, head of Pan-American Airways, is his brother-in-law, he disassociated himself from Postwar Aviation, and Asst. Secy. of State Berle is in charge of this matter. When Stettinius visited England recently, he was offered a number of honorary degrees by British universities. He declined, lest critics say he's becoming an Anglophile.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR:
"On March 17 you carried an item about Humphrey Bogart getting into an altercation in a hotel in Africa and breaking some furniture shortly before the hotel was bombed. You also mentioned that after the bombing was over and hotel ruined, the hotel submitted a bill to Bogart for his breakage. . . Just recently, in making up an examination for my students in the course on the Law of Torts, I used that item as one of the questions. I hope you don't mind this piracy of your material. The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

(Lt. Col. Robert S. Allen now on active service with the Army)

Washington—With the toughest battle of the war now raging in Normandy, the Naval battle of the Potomac continues—over the question of uniforms.

It may seem fantastic, but what a young Naval officer should wear has become a real problem. In Washington, for instance, the standard summer uniform is gray, especially selected by Admiral Ernie King, who went over the head of the late Secretary of the Navy Knox to the White House to get the summer grays adopted.

But if an officer is flying to the West Coast, he finds that tan summer khakis are standard. Then if he moves on to Pearl Harbor, he finds that Admiral Nimitz has bowed to Admiral King and grays, not khakis, are what the well-dressed Naval officer should wear.

But when he goes on to Noumea, New Caledonia, headquarters of the Southwest Pacific, khakis, not grays, are in vogue again. What is to be worn all depends on the Naval commander of each area.

Meanwhile, the laundry bills, the baggage space and the extra shirts, cap covers and, in some cases, different buttons and insignia are enough to keep a young ensign in poverty, or drive his wife to distraction. Different colored shirts must be carried for each different type of uniform: Tan shirts for the khakis, gray shirts for the grays, white shirts for the blues.

—PARTIAL GOLD BRAID—
But the most irksome ruling pertains to the winter blues. It has been ordered that the dark Navy blue uniform, used as the work uniform during winter months, shall have gold braid extending only two thirds of the distance around the sleeve at the cuff. But blue uniforms worn in the evening must have stripes running completely around the cuff. Result: Officers must carry at least two sets of blues—one for evening and one for work, very difficult when airplane baggage must be light.

Here are some other do's and don'ts which the well-dressed Naval officer must obey:

1—In Washington you can't wear aviation green uniforms except in arriving at the airport or in departing from the airport. Admiral King has thrown his weight with the battleship school and ruled that Naval aviation officers should not be too conspicuous.

2—Except for a few favored officers, no gold chin strap can be worn with the gray summer uniform. The chin strap on the cap must be black, also black shoulder boards and buttons.

3—Whites are mandatory in the evening, together with the high stiff 1898 Spanish-American war collars—despite the frantic laundry problem.

4—You can still get away with wearing khaki uniforms in Washington, despite Admiral King's order for grays. He modified it when it was found that to make grays compulsory would have forced officers to discard 600,000 brown uniforms and use up so much cloth as to threaten civilian clothes rationing.

NOTE—When Wilson argued hard-hitting Senator Kilgore of West Virginia to promote Jeffe, Kilgore replied: "I am for promoting every man at the fighting front, but not push-bottoms in Washington."

—MORE STARS IN WASHINGTON—
While thousands of capable, well-trained youngsters are out in the front lines with the rank of corporal, sergeant or 2nd lieutenant, the desk officers of Washington continue to reap promotions.

The Senate Military Affairs Committee is now probing this in connection with a new list of promotions to be generals. "At the rate we are showering stars," remarked forthright Senator Wallgren of Washington State, referring to the fact that generals wear stars on their shoulders, "The U. S. Army will soon look like the milky way."

Senators are especially scrutinizing one recommended brigadier general—Colonel E. F. Jeffe, attached to the War Production Board.

Jeffe's chief distinction is being the Army liaison man for WPB Vice Chairman Charles E. Wilson, who has been telephoning senators urging that his aide be made a general.

In private life, Jeffe was executive vice president of Consolidated Edison of New York, which handles a lot of General Electric products. Wilson was head of General Electric.

In public life, Jeffe has aroused the ire of various government associates, among them R. S. Dean, assistant director of the Bureau of Mines, by taking a dictaphone record of one of Dean's telephone conversations. Holly Dean wrote to Jeffe: "I am interested to know that the office of the executive vice chairman of the War Production Board has gone in for the use of the dictaphone without the common courtesy of advising the persons who is called upon that he is speaking for the record."

—CAPITOL CHAFF—

Simultaneous with leading the anti-Roosevelt revolt in Texas, Jesse Jones' nephew, George Butler, came to Washington to ask the Civil Aeronautics Board to license a new airplane line at Houston. . . . Folks are now wondering whether FDR will reward his enemies. . . . About the only radio station licensed during the war was given to a competitor of Jesse Jones in Houston recently, so getting young Judge Roy Hopkins. He got the license after he showed that the other Houston radio stations, dominated by Jones, carried very few announcements for bonds, Red Cross or the war effort.

Rock Lions Club Sponsors Meeting For Public Tonight

Rock, Mich.—The Rock Lions' club is sponsoring a public meeting at the auditorium of the Rock high school, Wednesday evening, June 21. All county candidates for election to public offices are invited to attend, regardless of political standing.

Sgt. Christiansen is stationed in the Southwest Pacific. He also was the first in his section to be awarded the Good Conduct medal for a year's good service.

Delta Certified Potato Seed Growers Increasing

The growing of certified seed potatoes in Delta county, still far from the industry it might be, had a decided impetus this year when the number of growers and the acreage almost doubled over last year, it was reported yesterday by E. A. Wenner, county agricultural agent.

Certified seed potato production not only pays dividends to the grower, it aids in growing good seed which makes for better potato production nationally. Most of the certified seed grown in the county is shipped out to other states, a cause for regret on the part of those who are attempting to boost potato production locally.

Last year there were 17 growers with a total of 154 acres in Russet Rural certified seed plantings. This year, after a recent survey by the county agent, it was revealed the number of growers had increased to 33 and the acreage to 235.

Urged Certified Plot

All potato growers in the county have been urged by the county agent to establish a certified seed plot and through selection of disease-free tubers seed for certified seed plantings.

The grower benefits in several ways in producing certified seed. A certified seed potato is one and seven-eighths inches minimum diameter and runs up to 10 ounces weight. There is also a size B which is smaller—one and one-half to two inches in diameter.

Potatoes over the 10-ounce weight limit are marketed as specially desirable grade of table stock and bring premium prices.

Sale of the certified seed itself will bring the grower on the average about 40 per cent more than for table stock spuds. Thus under average conditions and over a period of time it has been shown that certified seed bring a price per bushel (56 pounds) that compares with 100 pounds of table stock.

The smaller size certified seed (size B) which would be normally unsalable as table stock, bring as much or more to the grower than the No. 1 seed. Reason for this is that many growers prefer to plant smaller certified seed because it is not necessary to cut them.

For a grower of certified seed to qualify his fields must pass two inspections. At the first inspection there must be less than one-half of one per cent of any one disease, and not more than one per cent of all diseases; and at the second inspection these percentages must be cut in half.

These rigid inspections, of course, benefit the grower also, for it leaves his seed fields practically disease-free. The work and time he expends on the healthy plants therefore bring him increased revenue without loss.

County Agent Wenner has, over a period of years, encouraged Delta county potato growers to get into the certified seed production field. Back in 1935 there was but one certified grower. This condition continued to 1937. Then in 1938 there were two, and in 1939 it increased to four.

Started in 1940 the Escanaba Potato Boosters association in 1940 brought a sharp increase in interest. That year the number jumped to 10, went to 11 in 1941, 12 in 1942, 17 in 1943—and this year practically doubled at 33.

It had been hoped that acreage devoted to certified seed might reach the 300-acre mark this year. However, Wenner said that he has advised that initial plantings be kept small so that experience can be gained without loss. The acreage can thereafter be increased.

Emil DeBacker of St. Nicholas is the largest certified grower in the county. He has 40 acres in seed, but is certifying only 25 acres, since that is all he will have time and labor and storage facilities to care for. All certified seed must be stored until spring, when they are marketed.

Following are the 33 certified seed growers of the county:

Orange Tree Bears Fruit

Townpeople will be astonished to learn that oranges can be produced as far north as Grand Marais, but not profitably. Mrs. Otto Niemi has a tree, grown indoors, which produced four ripe oranges. The tree, but then a small sprig, was given to Mrs. Niemi by Mrs. William Baller, four years ago. It now stands about two and one half feet high. One orange is average size, while the other three are smaller. The tree is also in blossom now. It took approximately one year for the oranges to mature.

Worry Clinic

With Case Records Of
A Psychologist

BY DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE C-275: Corinne M., aged 32, is an attractive mother of two youngsters.

"Some day I wish you'd give us a Case Record about those people who are in between the dating or unmarried age and the menopause," she laughingly suggested.

"We folks who are from 25 to 35, have many problems that we must face."

"Dr. Crane, what are some of the recommendations you would make to young married couples with children approaching school age?"

DIAGNOSIS: The ecstasy of the honeymoon and first few months in the new home, will ultimately become somewhat less intense.

Husband and wife become comfortably adjusted to each other, and begin to sense the deep abiding affection that should persist till the Golden Wedding Anniversary.

A problem of young married couples is money. Americans are taught mathematics in public school but seldom are instructed in the practical arithmetic of operating a home on a budget.

Bills and economic insecurity beset our young couples. Send for my "Budget Chart" and thus place a sound financial foundation under your new home. If possible, every husband should also give his bride an adequate insurance policy to protect her and their potential children.

When you young couples have children, I offer you my "Tests for Parents" and other relevant bulletins on child psychology. Take advantage of them, for they are university material made available to everybody who is ambitious enough to send for them.

I even offer you a sensible dieting chart so you will not lose your bridal figures, or so you can regain them following pregnancy, when many women remain permanently rather fat.

For specific problems in the home where a new baby is expected, be sure to read tomorrow's Case Record. And save these psychology cases in a scrapbook, for it may be years before I'll have time to publish them in textbook form.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long 3c stamped, addressed envelope and a dime to cover typing or printing costs when you seek personal advice or one of his psychological charts.)

Bergman and Pat Kniskern spent seven days there. Mrs. Mildred Ranguette accompanied them as chaperone.

Stanley Pyke left recently to visit his son Stanley who is receiving his boot training at Great Lakes Naval Training Station.

Hannah Magnusson of Chicago sister of Mrs. William Nelson is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Nelson.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Wesen and family moved into their new apartment in the second story of the Colonial Inn.

Mr. and Mrs. Emmet Kennedy, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Kennedy, their son S. 2/c James Kennedy and Sis Reese of Gladstone called Thursday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Billings of Schafer.

Miss Edith Proehl left Saturday to enter Northern Michigan College of Education.

Christian Science Churches

"Christian Science" will be the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, June 25.

The Golden Text (Isaiah 2:5) is: "O house of Jacob, come ye, and let us walk in the light of the Lord."

Among the Bible citations is this passage (John 14:12): "Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that believeth on me, the works that I do shall he do also; and greater works than these shall he do; because I go unto my Father."

Correlative passages to be read from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health With Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, include the following (p. 146): "Divine Science derives its sanction from the Bible, and the divine origin of Science is demonstrated through the holy influence of Truth in healing sickness and sin."

Secret Weapons Show Need For Peace Union

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington—This is it. Armageddon has arrived only five years late and as time is measured geologically that is only the flicker of an eyelash.

Remember back to the start of the war, that September day in 1939 when for the second time in a generation the lights went out all over Europe. Then we expected it, we who had been brought up on H. G. Wells' fantasies of the earth-girdling bombers and the atomic death ray.

It didn't happen and because it didn't happen we developed a curious complacency. The phrase "phony war" came into use.

Four years ago the Nazis unleashed their blitz on France and the low countries. It was appalling. We were sunk in black despair.

Yet, still the world, or a part of it, survived. And human beings have a curious and stubborn refusal to see the danger just around the corner. We told ourselves that it wasn't to be nearly as bad as we had thought.

End Not In Sight

But now with the pilotless plane, with the super-bomber that can fly through storms as far as from Los Angeles to Kansas City to reach a target, with vastly improved flame throwers and phosphorus bombs, with the work of thousands of scientists coming to fruition, we are forced to believe that the wildest prophecies of doom are possible. The aerial blitz on England in 1940 and '41 was only a sample, the mass raids on Germany but a preface of destruction to come.

For certainly the end is not in sight. As one of our pioneer experts in new weapons said to me the other day:

"The radio-directed missile is only in the beginning stages. In ten years it will be possible to release substantial tonnages of high explosives accurately on a distant target by radio direction."

In other words, what the Germans are sending over England today are pretty crude little toys. Just as the German bombers of 1940 were crude in comparison to the B-29. It's a safe guess that in a dozen laboratories, perhaps in as many experimental plants, something much more spectacular is on the way.

Atomic Energy Next

It is no secret that the Germans are working on weapons to be powered by atomic energy—weapons with an explosive force far greater than results from the mere mixture of a few chemicals. German propaganda broadcasts have hinted at the imminent use of some such weapon.

The Nazis killed off or forced into exile part of their science, but they still have good scientific brains working 14 and 16 hours a day. They might get it before this war ends.

Sometimes you can't help but feel a sort of despair for the human race itself; the black pessimism that old Mark Twain gave vent to in his last years. On one side, man is so heroic and so noble, and on the other side so base and so cruel.

Sometimes you feel that in man's inner nature there is a deep contradiction, almost a perverse suicidal impulse. The rats of Norway, responding to some unaccountable impulse, at certain periods swim in huge numbers out into the sea and to their death. Nature has not guaranteed any species against destruction.

The choice would seem to be ours. The pin point of time in which we stand could mark the great divide.

—If—the instinct of self preservation asserts itself, then there will be a union which will check the spread of wars and perhaps eventually prevent them. That is the only way to prevent destruction of the society that man has built so painfully through the centuries.

Woodrow Wilson, it now seems to us, asked for too much at the start. President Roosevelt, in his desire to avoid that mistake, may be asking too little. He seems to have failed to unite stern necessity with the idealistic impulse which must be a powerful force in any such union.

Already in this political year you can see the Roosevelt-Hull plan moving into controversy. But with the dull thrumming roar of the pilotless planes over the English coast, we should each and every one of us solemnly remember what is at stake.

SENT TO PRISONGets 7½ To 22½ Years
For Breaking And Entering

Russell Smith, 48, charged with breaking and entering in the night time, second offense, was sentenced to 7½ to 22½ years in Marquette prison, following his plea of guilty before Circuit Judge Herbert Runkle in circuit court here Monday afternoon.

Specifically, Smith was charged with breaking into Schuster's Food Market in Manistique on April 24. He also confessed to breaking into Norton's Grocery, Lenon's Gas Station and the Ann Arbor Railway depot here on April 26 and to breaking and entering business establishments at St. Ignace and Mackinaw City.

Smith has already served 28 of his 48 years in state penitentiaries. Born in Thompson, he was first sent to jail from Manistique 30 years ago on a charge of stealing a bicycle. Then he moved to Texas, where he was sent to prison for five years for cattle rustling. He served time at Jackson, Mich. for forgery and then was sentenced at Monroe for breaking and entering.

After a few minor jail sentences, Smith was sentenced in 1934 to 7½ to 22½ years for breaking and entering, second offense and at the time of his recent arrest, he was on 12 years probation.

The sentencing of Smith highlighted the opening session of circuit court here Monday afternoon. Because the June term is a non-jury term, all other cases scheduled for trial were continued.

Cases pending follow: Jacob Anthony and William Anthony, non support, continued for sentence. Both pleaded guilty at previous session of court and Judge Runkle continued the cases as each is now supporting his family. Angela Malmberg, embezzlement, continued for trial, no jury this term. Gregory Goudreau and Hugh Lemirand, taking indecent liberties, continued for sentence. Both pleaded guilty at a previous session of court. They are still pending.

INQUEST TODAY
IN VALLIER CASE

Coroner Calls Jury In
Death Of Mueller
Twp. Resident

An inquest will be held this morning at 10 o'clock in justice court in the death of James Vallier, who was killed early Sunday morning on highway U.S. 2, near the Green school in Mueller township. Coroner C. F. Anderson will conduct the investigation. Jurors called for the inquest are Fred Hahne, Neil Reese, Alex Creighton, Al Farley, Leonard Harbick and Leonard Males.

Vallier was killed when he was struck on the head, apparently while lying on the pavement. He was hit by a car driven by Lee Bare, of Manistique. October 8, 1906 in Engadine and resided there until eight years ago, when he moved to the Green school location. He is survived by his widow, the former Margaret Ostland; his father, Thomas; and two sisters, Mrs. Ernest Derwin, of Gernfask; and Mrs. Fred Shampine, of Blaney.

He served in the army from March 17, 1942 to August, 1942. Funeral services were not complete yesterday morning, but interment will be made in Engadine cemetery.

HEITMAN GIVES
POSTWAR PLANS

City Getting Necessary
Data For Various Projects

Al Heitman, Manistique city councilman, outlined plans for postwar development of Manistique at the regular meeting of the Manistique Rotary club Monday noon at the Elks club, stressing the fact that the council and the planning committee are making a broad study of all proposed projects.

Preliminary work is now under way for the preparation of a comprehensive city map to show the grades and elevations for all streets, curbs, sidewalks and sewers, Heitman said, emphasizing that this is a necessity before proper planning can be made.

The betterment of street, sidewalks, sewers, etc., is regarded as the No. 1 priority project, the speaker said. He explained that the project is one that can be financed entirely by the city, piece-meal, if necessary. In the event the state and federal governments fail to provide assistance.

Heitman declared that the project for the construction of a sewage treatment plant is not regarded at the present as a practical project requiring high priority. He declared that the Manistique system of sewage disposal is "primitive but adequate." The heavy dilution of sewage by the immense volume of water in the Manistique river results in quick oxidation of sewage here, Heitman said. He added, however, that eventually the state health department may require an improvement of sewage treatment facilities here.

Well Data Unreliable
The speaker told the Rotarians that the data now available on the municipal well is unreliable and will require further study by the engineering firm employed by the city. He estimated that approximately $19,000 has been invested to date in the ground well. City Manager Manson later declared that the city has spent about $18,000 in the well.

Heitman declared that the chlorides in the well make the water supply unfit for city use and declared that it still is uncertain whether it is possible to rehabilitate the deep well, or even whether it would be desirable to do so in the event that it is possible.

He reported that the water supply from the Indian river is comparatively soft and palatable, although a filtration system would be desirable to eliminate the sediment now apparent in the water. The 24 inch wood stave main from the intake dam to the Soo Hill tracks is in good condition, Heitman reported, but the main is not in good condition near the pulpwood yard.

He estimated a filtration plant would cost about $50,000 with additional outlay required for rehabilitation of the gravity main, or a total outlay of from $75,000 to $100,000.

In the event that a ground well supply of water is used, about $35,000 would be required for the construction of a water softener plant plus an additional outlay for pumping, Heitman said. This expenditure would be in addition to whatever cost is necessitated for the rehabilitation of the well itself. He added that the city should not rely on a single well for its water supply because of the lack of standby service.

The street work project will be ready for immediate action when the proper time comes, probably after the war, or sooner if the given light for city development is given before that time, he explained.

FLY SENDS IN WINNING RUN

Small Crowd on Hand for Opening Game of A Series

BY WATSON SPOELSTRA
Detroit, June 20 (AP)—Hard working Paul Trout, who has crowded 24 innings of pitching into the last six days, lost another tough decision tonight when the Cleveland Indians scored two runs in the ninth for a 3 to 1 victory over the Detroit Tigers in a twilight game before 11,914 spectators.

Trout pitched a five hitter for eight innings in a duel with Allie Reynolds, but in the ninth the Indians clustered four hits for their winning margin. It was Trout's seventh defeat against eight victories, and Reynolds' seventh triumph.

Ex-Tiger Roy Cullenbine, who singled home a run in the fourth, started Cleveland's ninth with a double. He advanced on Buddy Rosar's sacrifice and scored on Ray Mack's fly. Both Rosar and Mack were flown in from their Cleveland war jobs to make a one-night stand.

Mike Rocco, Reynolds and Aris Hockett then clustered singles for another run.

The only run off Reynolds came in the first inning. With one out, Chuck Hostetler, the 38-year-old rookie, got the first of his two hits. Jimmy Outlaw singled him to third and Pinky Higgins drilled a single to left, scoring Hostetler. Reynolds stamped out the threat of further scoring by getting Eddie Mayo and Rudy York.

The Tigers loaded the bases with two out in the fourth, bringing Trout, who flew out. In the seventh rookie outfielder Paul O'Dea, former Michigan State leaguer at Flint, made a circus catch to kill another Detroit scoring chance.

Bob Swift singled with one out and both Swift and Trout were safe on a fielder's choice. Joe Orango smashed a drive to left field where O'Dea darted back and made a leaping one-hand catch against the screen. Trout, whose eyesight isn't too good, presumably thought the drive would fall safe for he passed Swift on the basepaths between second and third and was declared out.

After the Cleveland ninth, Roger Cramer singled and pinch hitter Don Ross walked with one out, but Reynolds got Orango on a fly to Cullenbine to end the game.

The victory gave the Indians a 7 to 5 margin over Detroit. Mel Harder will face Johnny Gorsica of Detroit on the mound tomorrow.

Feature event of a July Fourth celebration at Gladstone being sponsored by the recreation department will be an Upper Peninsula junior championship polo, in this manner is log rolling being kept alive in the city that in 1941 and 1942 sponsored world championship polo which lured contestants from as far as the west coast.

Billy Girard, former straight birding titlist and still without a peer in the tricks and fancy department, is devoting his time evenings and Sundays to training Delta county youths interested in learning the art of log cutting. Incidentally, Billy is looking for a new partner to team with him in the exhibitions which he gives on occasion at sport shows throughout the middle west, for all of his sons are now in service, the last one leaving a week ago.

Mel Ott Suspends, Fines Giant Hurler

Brooklyn, June 20 (AP)—Mel Ott, manager of the New York Giants said today that Pitcher Ewald Pyle had been fined and suspended indefinitely for breaking training rules.

Ott declared the pitcher became involved in an argument with a stranger after hurling the Giants to a victory in the second half of Saturday's twin bill at Boston and suffered a chipped bone in his hand in the fist-swinging debate.

"He'll remain suspended until he is able to pitch," said Ott. Pyle is the first player suspended by Ott in his career as a manager.

CASTOFFS LEAD BASE STEALING

Lupien And Ryan Tied In Nat'l; Walker Tops Sluggers

New York, June 20, (AP)—A pair of castoff ball players are leading the National league in the art of stealing bases.

Tony Lupien, shunted from the Boston Red Sox to the Philadelphia Phils earlier this season, and Connie Ryan, swapped to the Boston Braves with catcher Hugh Poland for Ernie Lombardi about a year ago, are deadlocked in one of the most spectacular departments of the sport with eight successful thefts each.

While the mathematicians compiling this week's averages, which include games of Monday night, couldn't separate the pair they awarded three of the slugging titles to Dixie Walker, Brooklyn outfielder.

Walker remains as the league's outstanding hitter with an average of .385—a drop of 18 points during a week in which the Georgian got only six hits in 30 trips to the plate. However, Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals, pulled into a threatening position with a 29-point gain in two weeks that lifted him to .377.

The Brooklyn gardener also is tops in number of hits with 88 and in doubles with 21. Another Dodger, Stanley (Frenchy) Bordagaray has scored 50 times and Phil Weirich of the New York Giants, has driven in 48 mates.

Musial and Johnny Barrett of the Pittsburgh Pirates have seven triples each and Mel Ott, manager of the Giants, is away out in front in the home run department with 18. Weintraub and Whitey Kurowski of the Cardinals, are next with 11 each.

George Munger, another Cardinal, sets the pace for the hurriers with eight triumphs in nine decisions for a .889 tabulation. He won only nine games during the entire 1943 campaign.

Lippy Leo Removed From Active List

Brooklyn, June 20 (AP)—Leo Durocher was returned to the status of a bench manager today when his name was taken off the active player list of the Brooklyn Dodgers. His place on the roster was taken by 19-year-old Clyde King, right-handed pitcher from North Carolina university.

Fighting Men Stage Track Meet In Rome

BY KENNETH DIGON
Rome, June 20 (AP)—Amidst the marble magnificence of the unfinished Mussolini stadium which the Fascists built for 1944's now forgotten Olympic games and where the Germans were billeted a scant fortnight ago Allied fighting men competed today in the Fifth Army track and field meet.

Despite the lack of any formal training plus the absence of regulation track shoes the men who chased the Germans up through Italy showed considerable speed by turning in the 100-yard dash in less than 10 seconds and by topping the 120-yard high hurdles in 17 1/2 seconds.

Between events the soldier audience inspected the huge statues studying the various smaller fields ringing the actual stadium. Wires of the loudspeaker system were strung from the arms and legs of some of the marble replicas of ancient Roman and Greek athletes.

Isbell starred with the Boilermakers in 1935, 1936 and 1937. He climaxed his college career with a brilliant performance with the College All Stars against the Washington Red Skins. With the Packers he set several pro loop records. He threw at least one touchdown pass in 23 consecutive games, a record stopped by his retirement in 1942. He completed 419 of 837 passes with only 52 interceptions and as a ball carrier averaged 3.6 yards, gaining 1522 in 422 attempts.

Hit and Miss—Elroy "Crazy Legs" Hirsch suffered his only setback of the season when Michigan was defeated Saturday, 3-2 by Western Michigan. It was his final appearance in a Michigan uniform. Ellsworth Vines, former U. S. tennis champ, now a golf instructor at the Denver country club, snubs his old love. He calls tennis monotonous. Not so with golf, he says for every course and the landscape and scenery offered are different.

Ernie Calverly of Rhode Island State who scored 534 points and Leo Klier of Notre Dame and George Mikani of DePaul received the greatest publicity during the past season, many coaches list Dale Hall of the unbeaten Army five as the No. 1 college player.

REjuvenated Yanks Tip Senators 3-1
New York, June 20 (AP)—Bud Metheny's fifth inning home run —his sixth of the year— was the deciding blow today as New York Yankees defeated Washington 3 to 1 behind the four-hit hurling of Hank Borowy.

The rejuvenated Yanks loosed a 10-hit barrage at the expense of Knuckler Johnny Niggeling, who lost his second game against five wins. For Borowy it was the ninth victory against three defeats.

Nick Etten shook free from his hitting slump by belting a double and two singles in four trips. Washington 000 100 000—1 4 1

This Year, Of All Years, Red Sox Might Win Flag

BY WHITNEY MARTIN

New York, (AP)—It would be ironic, at that, to have Tom Yawkey's Boston Red Sox win the American League pennant this year after all the fruitless years he spent trying to buy it. Sort of like a fellow shaking a tree savagely without result in trying to dislodge a big, red apple, only to have it plop him on the head as he starts to walk away in disgust.

Not that Yawkey ever got disgusted and quit shaking the tree. He's still in there pitching pennies, millions of them, as witness his recent donation of $15,000 to a New Orleans schoolboy for signing.

But circumstances have curtailed his expenditures. For talent, as a million dollars does you no good on a desert island and the field of talent practically is a desert island now. The irony of it is that the Groves and Foxes and most of the other players who cost Yawkey clearing house figures failed to get him closer than whiffing distance to the flag, while this year, with a lineup sprinkled with guys named Joe—and we don't mean Cronin—He really has a chance. Cronin, in fact, is the only one left of that original group of gold-plated investments.

The answer is simple. The Red Sox aren't as good as they were when they were falling, but neither is the competition. Yawkey was bucking the Yankees who really were the Yankees in those early years. Bucking them with his bucks, and that wasn't enough.

This year it's every team for itself, so to speak, with no free-wheeling Yankees to make the race a travesty. On June 1 the Red Sox were tied for sixth place, and the Yankees were leading. Yesterday the Yankees were in sixth place, and the Red Sox were second, only half a game out of the lead. Which just goes to show you.

Anyway, if the Red Sox do come through it couldn't happen to two nicer guys than Cronin and Yawkey.

Pvt. H. O'Donnell of the Marine Corps would like us to mention the Parris Island baseball team, so here it is. The Parris Island team has won 17 straight, perhaps the record for the year, pro or amateur. Gene Desautels, ex-major leaguer, is leading the hitters with a .400 average for 11 games.

P. S.—Desautels hit .205 with Cleveland last year.

It's difficult to figure the sale of Pitcher Harry Gumbert by the Cardinals to the Reds. The Reds loom as one of the Cards' chief rivals, to use the word loosely, and the Reds' forte is pitching. In selling Gumbert, a better than average chucker, to their so-called rivals the Cardinals seem to be showing an sneering contempt for the Reds' chances, or are so smug in their belief they can coast in their figure it doesn't make any difference where the other teams have.

Miss Germain and Mrs. Zaharias are in opposite brackets and thus will not be required to meet each other unless it be in the scheduled 36-hole championship round Saturday—which sideline guessers were indicating will be the case.

However, no one thought Catherine Fox, the Bloomfield, N. J., glamor gal, would howl out to little-known Mrs. Albert Becker of Englewood, N. J., but pretty Catherine was upset by her state rival today 3 and 2, after rallying to win four of the last holes on the first nine to be 1-up at the turn.

"I played stupid golf," said Miss Fox, whose father is honorary president of the New Jersey P. G. A.

Today's victors will get detached service to prepare to represent the Fifth Army in the Mediterranean war theater track and field meet to be held here shortly.

The day's top honors went to Pvt. Zemer S. Cox, stocky negro graduate of Wichita University at Wichita, Kans., where he starred in track and field events. The bespectacled military policeman was responsible for both the 100-yard dash, in which he was officially clocked in 9.9 seconds and the high hurdles. In addition to these wins he ran anchor on the championship relay team.

A British Tommy, Lance Corporal W. Rayner, a short lean distance expert, won the mile and six mile events. The latter was run outside of the stadium up into the hills behind Rome with the officials following along in a jeep. Despite the grueling cross-country grind even the boys scrambling for 10, 11th and 12th places staged a stretch drive for the benefit of the cheering soldiers.

"That is why we are winning the war," grinned Capt. A. L. Gaggert of Canyon, Texas. "Guys who will still sprint and fight it out after six miles can't be beat."

Walters Shuts Out Pirates, 3-0, Gives Only Two Safeties

Pittsburgh, June 20 (AP)—Bucky Walters allowed Pittsburgh two hits tonight as the Reds snubbed out the Pirates 3-0 in the opener of their current series.

Big Max Butcher was nipped for nine safeties before he retired at the beginning of the ninth in favor of Xavier Rescigno.

Two Pittsburgh misuses gave the visitors their first score. Woody Williams was safe on Babe Dahlgren's fumble of his grounder. Max Marshall forced Williams, then stole second and went to third when Hank Camelli threw wild. Jerry Walker tied to Johnny Barrett and Marshall scored after the catch.

Buck McCormick's third straight hit, a double, produced the Reds' run in the seventh, scoring Williams, who had singled and gone to second on Marshall's sacrifice.

The victory, Walters' eleventh, put the Reds in a virtual tie for third place with New York, beat-ening 7-6 by Brooklyn today.

Ninth Straight Victory For St. Louis Over Chicago

Chicago, June 20 (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals supported Al Jurisich's five-hit pitching with a series of dazzling catches today to run their conquest of the Chicago Cubs to nine victories in as many meetings this season. The score was 2 to 1 and the margin of victory was an unearned run scored when Roy Hughes, Chicago third baseman, let a grounder seep through him.

The league leaders got eight hits, all singles, off Bob Chipman, erstwhile Brooklyn southpaw. Ray Sanders, Stan Musial and George Kurowski linked three of them in the eighth for the run that minimized Bill Nicholson's 11th homer.

Although he scattered the five hits he allowed over as many innings, Jurisich found the paths usually peopled against him by walking five and hitting three batsmen, within one of the twentieth century record.

Singles by W. Cooper and Kurowski opened the fourth inning and set up the Cards' first run. After Danny Litwiler hit in to a double play, W. Cooper scored as Hughes let Martin Marion's grounder go through him to left field.

BULLISH STOCK RHYTHM UPSET

BY BERNARD S. O'HARA
New York, June 20 (AP)—An early reaction in stocks, motors and rails upset the stock market's bullish rhythm for a time today but stepped back in the final hour gave the closing list a steady tone.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was unchanged at 55.6, a seven-year high. The utility average advanced 2 of a point to 37.5, a new peak for the year. Transactions totaled 1,618,750 shares compared with 2,570,000 yesterday.

U. S. Steel and Bethlehem retrieved their early losses to close unchanged. Chrysler was down .01 and General Motors .15. Du Pont dropped 2 1/4 and moderate declines were registered by Goodyear, Goodrich, Douglas Aircraft and Atlantic Coast Line. Prominent in the late upturn were American Can with a gain of 1 1/4, American Smelting 1-5/8, Southern Railway 7-8, Allied Chemical 2 and Leach 5-8.

BONDS OFF BALANCE
New York, June 20 (AP)—The bond market was thrown off balance by rather liberal offerings of rails today. Declines of fractions to more than a point were only partially offset by scattered resistance among utilities and industrials.

Dollar bonds of Peru declined an average of 2 1/2 points on an announcement that negotiations between that government and the Foreign Bondholders Protective Council had been temporarily suspended because of inability to agree on a formula for a resumption of service.

Domestic issues closing a point or more lower than those of the Lehigh Valley, Katy, Missouri Pacific, St. Paul, North Western, New York Central, New Haven and Cleveland Union. More than 100 issues were among others, Commonwealth Edison 3/4, Delaware & Hudson 4, International Hydro Electric 6 1/2, Monon 6, 5c paid up and Finance 3a. U. S. government bonds were quiet.

Sales of 39,077,400 compared with 38,400,000 on June 19. The bond market average of 20 rails lost 3 of a point and the 10 foreign issues dropped 4. The 10 utilities posted a new 1944 high at 106 1/2, and small advances in some of the higher priced loans.

The Roving Reporter

heard from at all, and it looked bad, but they have since turned up safe.

The boys were unshaven, and their eyes were red. Their muscles were stiff and their bodies ached. They had carried ashore only their typewriters and some K rations. They had gone two days without sleep, and then had slept on the ground without blankets, in wet clothes.

But none of that mattered too much after what they had been through. They were in a sort of daze from the exhaustion and mental turmoil of battle. When you asked a question it would take them a few seconds to focus their thoughts and give you an answer.

Casualties Cover Beach

Two of them in particular had been through all the frightful nightmare that the assault troops had experienced—because they had come ashore with them.

Don Whitehead hit the beach with one regiment just an hour after H-Hour. Thompson at the same time with another regiment. They were on the beaches for more than four hours under that hideous cloudburst of shells and bullets.

Jack Thompson said: "You've never seen a beach like it before. Dead and wounded men were lying so thick you could hardly take a step, one officer was killed only two feet away from me."

Whitehead was still asleep when I went to his foxhole. I said, "Get up, you lazy so-and-so." He started grinning without even opening his eyes, but he knew who it was.

It was hard for him to wake up. He had been unable to sleep, from sheer exhaustion, and had taken a sleeping tablet.

Don had managed to steal one blanket on the beach and had that wrapped around him. He had taken off his shoes for the first time in two days. His feet were so sore from walking in wet shoes and socks that he had to give them some air.

Finally he began to get himself up. "I don't know why I'm alive at all," he said. "It was really awful. For hours there was no beach the shells were so close they were throwing mud and rocks all over you. It was so bad that after a while you didn't care whether you got hit or not."

Don fished in a cardboard ration box for some cigarettes. He pulled out an envelope and threw it into the bushes. "They ain't worth a damn," he said. The envelope contained his anti-seasickness tablets.

"I was sicker than hell while we were circling around in our landing craft waiting to come ashore," he said, "everybody was sick. Soldiers were lying on the floor on the LCP sick as dogs." Tex O'Reilly rode around in a boat for six hours waiting to get ashore. Everybody was wet and cold and seasick and scared. War is so romantic—if you're far away from it.

Worried by Communications
Whitehead had probably been in more amphibious landings than any other correspondent over here. I know of six he has made, four of them murderously tough. And he said:

"I think I have gone on one too many of these things. Not because what might happen to me personally, but I've lost my perspective. It's like dreaming the same nightmare over and over again, and when you try to write you feel that you have written it all before. You can't think of any

It is an ironic thing about correspondents who go in on the first few days of an invasion story. They are the only correspondents capable of telling the full and intimate drama and horror of the thing. And yet they are the ones who can't get their copy out to the world. By the time they do get it out, events have swirled on and the world doesn't care any more.

There that morning in their fox holes on the slope of the hill those correspondents were mainly worried about the communications situation. Forty-eight hours after H-Hour, correspondents who had landed with the first wave felt sure that none of their copy had ever reached America. And even if, a day behind them, feel no assurance that these feeble essays of mine will ever see the light of day. But in philosophical moments I can think of greater catastrophes than that.

Pre-School Clinic On Friday, June 23

Munising—The pre-school clinic for children in Munising Township, sponsored by the County Health committee, which was postponed from June 19 because of the measles epidemic, will be conducted on Friday, June 23. Children will receive a physical examination and small pox and diphtheria immunization shots if they have not already had them. Parents of children who will be five years old on or before December 31 and who expect to enroll them in school this fall are urged to take them to the clinic. Infants of nine months and older also will receive the shots.

The clinic, as was previously announced, will be held in the domestic science room of Mather school from 8:30 to 12 o'clock, noon, and from 1:30 to 5 o'clock. Members of the Parent-Teacher associations are cooperating with the health committee in arrangements for the clinic under the leadership of their chairmen, Mesdames Charles Brandt, George Grenholm, Ray Adair, Ernest Peterson and Charles Bray.

She has received no official notification from the war department. Lt. Trebilcock, infantry officer, has been overseas seven or eight months and has seen considerable action in the Anzio area.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Summers,

Today Longest of 1944; Warm Days to Follow Explained

Today, June 21, is the longest day in the year. The sun will rise at 5:56 a. m. (CWT) and will set at 8:24 p. m. (CWT) providing a possible 15 hours and 46 seconds of sunshine, according to Henry E. Hathaway, weather observer.

In this area we will have about 30 minutes more sunshine than places in the latitude of Chicago due to a combination of two circumstances, the position of the sun north of the equator and the inclination of the earth's axis toward the sun.

This morning at 6 a. m., the sun will reach its northernmost point, 23 degrees and 37 minutes north of the equator and it will then start its southward trend. The heat or warm days which always follow the longest day in the year are explained by Mr. Hathaway. He states that although the sun will lower and the days become shorter the heat stored up in the earth begins to radiate off and this plus the insulation of the sun causes our warmest days.

In contrast to today will be the shortest day of the year on Dec. 21 when the sun will rise at 8:27 a. m., and set at 5:15 p. m., providing a possible 8 hours and 38 minutes of sunlight. On that day the sun will stop going south at 6 p. m., at a point 23 degrees and 37 minutes south of the equator.

Between the longest and shortest days of the year there is a difference of 7 hours and 9 minutes of daylight.

Urgency For Coal Conservation Is Shown At Meeting

At an organization meeting of the area advisory committees called by Milton Almer, area distribution manager for the Solid Fuels Administration for War, the urgency for coal conservation was stressed. The meeting was held in Green Bay on Friday, June 16.

Mr. Almer pointed out that the indicated demand for bituminous coal in the United States during the coming year is 625,000,000 tons compared with 1943 production of 589,000,000 tons. The duties of the area advisory committees will consist of assisting those consumers who have diligently but unsuccessfully attempted to arrange for their needs.

The Solid Fuels administration has definitely decided against the coupon rationing of coal and instead has placed the responsibility for equitable distribution on the retail coal dealer. Inasmuch as the dealer's supply will be limited, he must rely upon the cooperation of the consumer in coal conservation in order to assure the success of the distribution program.

HERE'S HOW YOU CAN PROFIT BY UNCLE SAM'S EXPERIENCE!

Here's a success story of a famous Cities Service product—CISCO SOLVENT—which should be of great interest to you. For it points the way to better, more efficient performance for your car!

This is how it happened. A small quantity of CISCO SOLVENT was ordered by the Army for experimental use on the trucks and transport vehicles of a military camp in the South. CISCO SOLVENT was put through every conceivable test—and came out with flying colors! Since then, Cities Service has sent more than 12,000 gallons of CISCO SOLVENT to this camp alone.

It cleans the engine internally—gets into every joint and crevice where harmful gum and sludge collect . . . and removes every bit of harmful dirt! The result: new vigor, new pep and power restored to a tired, sluggish motor.

Why not profit by Uncle Sam's experience? Find out what this internal engine cleaner can do to bring new life to your road-weary engine. You'll be amazed at how thoroughly it cleans the engine, the transmission, and the differential—and prolongs the life of all moving parts.

We'll be glad to give you a demonstration of CISCO SOLVENT'S remarkable cleansing powers. Drive in to see us . . . today!

FOREST WORK CAMP OPENED

Youthful Crew Engages In Blister Rust Control

Manned by a crew of more than twenty high school boys, the United States Forest Service has opened a work camp near St. Ignace with timber improvement as its main object.

The work crew is occupying the Civilian Conservation Corps camp near Round Lake, last used by the CCC's in 1941.

Work was started on Friday, June 16, and its to continue until the last week in August. Resumption of school will necessarily bring a halt to the program.

Control of white pine blister rust will form the major work of the youths although they will also be trained in forest fire suppression and may be called upon to fight forest fires if the need arises.

Work will be carried out in natural and planted pine areas within the National Forest.

Blister rust is a plant disease caused by a growth of a parasitic fungus which lives alternately on white pines and on currant and gooseberry plants. It is impossible for the disease to spread directly from one pine to another. They are infected by means of wind-borne spores produced on the leaves of currant or gooseberry bushes and the rust destroys the bark thus preventing the flow of materials in the tree.

Control of the disease is effected by uprooting all currant and gooseberry bushes, both wild and cultivated, growing in the vicinity of the pines. All gooseberry and currant plants within 900 feet of pines are removed. Eradication of bushes farther away than this is unnecessary because few if any spores from plants at a greater distance can infect the trees.

The program is directed and supervised by the Forest Service. Youths employed are from Escanaba, Gladstone, Hermansville and St. Ignace.

Among them from this area are Warren Anderson, Thomas Arbogey, Lewis Brown, Donald Barry, James Harvey, William Harvey, Gaylord Larson, Warren Lee, Richard L'Heureux, Lester Ness, William Nimzinsky, Charles Scheibner and Roy Jensen of Escanaba, Harland Buckman of Gladstone and Kenneth and Donald Maga of Hermansville.

Michigan Bell Has 191 Delayed Orders For Telephones Here

The Michigan Bell Telephone Company has announced it has a waiting list of more than 75,000 orders for telephone service that it cannot fill because of the demands of war for communication facilities.

G. A. Marcouiller, manager for the company, said the backlog of unfilled orders is increasing at the rate of nearly 7,000 a month, with no prospect that the situation will improve for some time.

He pointed out that Western Electric company, manufacturing unit of the Bell System, has confined virtually its entire output since November, 1942, to military and war-production needs. Western Electric is making more than a third of all communication facilities manufactured in this country for war.

The announcement said that there are 191 delayed orders in the Escanaba exchange area.

The situation is so critical at most points in the company's territory, Mr. Marcouiller continued, that service can be granted only if it is essential to the war, public health, or the public security, as defined by regulations of the War Production Board. If spare facilities are available after meeting that priority, orders are then filled on a first-come, first-served basis.
